MEMORANDUM

On March 5, 2014, plaintiff Anthony Allen (“plaintiff”), an inmate presently incarcerated in the State Correctional Institution at Rockview (“SCI-Rockview”), Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, filed this civil rights complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. (Doc. 1). Plaintiff seeks to proceed in forma pauperis. (Docs. 5, 8.)

Preliminary review of the complaint reveals that plaintiff includes unrelated claims against numerous individuals employed at SCI-Rockview. Allowing the pleading to proceed as filed is not in the interest of judicial economy. Consequently, plaintiff will be directed to file an amended pleading which strictly adheres to the mandates of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure, Rule 8, General Rules of Pleading, and Rule 20, Permissive Joinder of Parties.

I. Standards

“Pleadings must be construed so as to do justice.” FED. R. CIV. P. 8(e). Rule 8(d)(1) states, in pertinent part, that “[e]ach allegation must be simple, concise and direct.” Rule 20(a)(2), states that “[p]ersons . . . may be joined in one action as defendants if: (A) any right to relief is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and (B) any question of law or fact common to all defendants will arise in the action.” FED. R. CIV. P. 20(a)(2). Although Rule 20 is a flexible rule that allows fairness and judicial economy, the rule only permits “joinder in a single action of all persons asserting, or defending against, a joint, several, or alternative right to relief that arises out of the same transaction or occurrence and presents a common question of law or fact.” 7 Charles Allen Wright, Arthur Miller & Mary Kay Kane, Federal Practice and Procedure §1652 at 371-72 (1986).

II. Discussion

Plaintiff’s complaint violates Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 8 and 20.

Plaintiff sums up his claims as follows:

The illegal and unconstitutional confidential and privileged mail opening outside of plaintiff’s presence, denied/delayed legal filings to the Courts, denial of access to the Courts, confiscation of property mail postage, deliberate indifference to a serious medical need, indifference to a soft [sic] condition of confinement, retaliatory practices, discriminatory practices, denial of procedural due process, cruel and unusual punishment, intimidation by terrorist acts, and unlawful obstruction of justice for failing to deliver legal mail, and theft of plaintiff’s property of monies, violated plaintiff’s First, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth [sic], and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution, and the Laws of the State of Pennsylvania.

(Doc. 1, ¶ 68.) The above claims, which allegedly arose between the dates of January, 2012, and January, 2014, concern a number of unrelated separate transactions and occurrence or series of transactions or occurrences against various defendants and do not involve an issue of law or fact common to all defendants.

While plaintiff will be granted an opportunity to file an amended complaint, he is strictly cautioned that the amended complaint must comply with Rule 20 and involve only related claims or parties. "It must be a new pleading which stands by itself as an adequate complaint without reference to the complaint already filed."

Young v. Keohane, 809 F. Supp. 1185 (M.D.Pa. 1992).

The Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1995 ("PLRA"), which substantially changed the judicial treatment of civil rights actions by state and federal prisoners, also compels compliance with Rule 20. Specifically, under the PLRA the full filing fee must ultimately be paid in a non-habeas action. Allowing a prisoner to include a plethora of separate, independent claims, would circumvent the filing fee requirements of the PLRA.

III. Conclusion

Although plaintiff's complaint violates Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 8 and 20, he will be afforded the opportunity to amend his complaint. To the extent that he believes that he has been subjected to more than one violation of his rights, and to the extent that these violations are unrelated to each other, plaintiff should file separate complaints addressing each violation.

An appropriate Order will issue.
